

DAWN MORROW

Dawn Morrow began studying for a career as a creative professional at the ripe old age of 7 years old. She garnered her first few paychecks for design and artwork at age 15. Devoting herself to continually increasing her knowledge in her field and out, Dawn has enjoyed a lengthy, award winning career in an extremely competitive field. During her 23 years with Computer Color Corp., in Lexington, she worked on projects for clients such as Valvoline, Yum Brands, Fazolis, Keeneland, The American Heart Association and McGraw-Hill. Dawn began her career with the Commonwealth in 2011 and currently serves as a Graphic Designer Coordinator for Kentucky Design and Print Services.

Challenged by Parkinson's Disease, Dawn continues to invest in herself via training and new challenges. She is a charter member and the current President of KYTC Speakers, a Toastmasters International Club that meets regularly at the KYTC Conference Center. Last fall Dawn competed and advanced the organization's Humorous Speech Contest, finishing 3rd in the final round. Dawn hopes to share with us her personal incites on overcoming challenges and the importance of investing in oneself.
